TURKISH RUGS SINCE 5th CENTURY

The history of the Turkish carpet weaving represents a traditional art, dating back to pre-Islamic times. When the sources of carpet weaving are searched for, the first samples are found in the 5th centuries BC, in Central Asia, on the skirts of Altay Mountain, the region where the Asian Hun Turks lived.

Turks' excellent weaving in symmetric knots and elaborate pictorial design hint at an advanced state of the art of carpet weaving at the time of its production. Since then we do follow the same historical proficiency at rug weaving.
